Speakers:

Presentation from Charles Newman, City Department of Public Service:

Mr. Newman gave a presentation about the City's request for the Far South Columbus Area Commission to join with the City of Columbus and to send a letter in support for a grant application to the Federal Department of Transportation for $7 million. This will allow the city to totally reconstruct the Williams Road corridor with sidewalks, fix traffic congestion, drainage issues, fix the railroad crossings that are currently causing traffic stoppages that are averaging 30 minutes or greater 8 to 10% on average. This grant if obtained will allow initial planning and community involvement in 2023. Franklin County, MORPC and the City will all be involved, and it will take 5.5 years to complete once the study begins. Currently there is approximately $2 million dollars secured already, and the $7 million will finalize the funding needed. A sample support letter was presented to the commission. The Divisions of Police and Fire, our 2 Federal Senators, the State and local governments are all in support of this project. Surrounding municipalities are also in support of this project. Chair Draudt asked how large of a stretch of Williams Road will be covered. Mr. Newman referred the commissioners to page 1 of his presentation which states "The limits of the corridor's plan start at Williams Road western terminus near the Scioto River and extend to its eastern terminus at Hamilton Road (SR 317)". It was also stated that this project will not stop any other plans for projects that have been planned along Williams Road. Commissioner Neale asked if the grant isn't awarded what happens? The city will apply for alternate funding from different sources as the city realizes that this is a dangerous road/corridor.

Presentation from Public Utilities:

Kevin McCain from Councilmember Dorans office spoke to the commission about the issues raised with drainage in the far southside. He brought George Zonders and Greg from stormwater control. A very technical discussion followed. A future meeting will be set up so that our documents and photos that were submitted can be reviewed by the stormwater management team and a discussion can be held. One point made is that retention ponds, their design and maintenance is the sole responsibility of the property owner and if they fail, do not work from their creation point or have issues after construction, is a code enforcement issue and their maintenance, repairs, redesign and regular upkeep are the property owner's responsibility.

Presentation from Ohio State University Dept. of Emergency Medicine:

Dr. Carson Reider, PhD gave a presentation on the RESET study, which is a clinical trial of a new medication used in the treatment of life threatening non-controlled seizures that do not respond to other forms of already available medications. This presentation is being given because this is a public notice requirement as patients will not be able to give informed consent to the administration of this drug, as they will be unconscious and having a seizure and will be unlikely to have family/next of kin nearby when needed. This study and the protocol follow Federal and State guidelines and has been approved by the City of Columbus Health Department as well as the State Health Department. Details on how to opt-out if a person desires are in the brochures available on their website and in our meeting room. Ohio State/Columbus is one of five sites in the US to participate in this study.

ACE Iron and Metal:

Diane Reynolds, Attorney and Samantha Mohny, Compliance Manager spoke to the commission about ACE Iron and Metal. ACE is under new management at this time and the piles of materials are down and they are no longer accepting several types of materials. Ms. Mohny said we should never see the piles be up above where they are currently. Ms. Mohny also expressed her desire to fill one of the vacant business seats on the Far South Columbus Area Commission. Commissioner Neale stated that she would be heard at our June meeting for the seat.

IMPACT:

J.D. Groves gave a presentation about the new electric car charging requirements being proposed. He presented a handout to the commission which is very technical and detailed, and I would refer all commissioners to that handout for the statistics and information contained within. The data within the handout is not yet finalized per Mr. Groves and will be adjusted by City Council before it is voted on by City Council. Discussion occurred around funding as it relates to affordable housing projects, retrofits of existing housing and existing business requirements if/when they remodel. January 2024 is current target date.

The chair placed the commission in recess for 5 minutes at 7:28 pm
